The work of grading the court house square is progressing rapidly and will be completed in a few days.

Dr. Willis P. King has purchased Sam Irvin's thoroughbred stepper, and with his (King's) new buggy proposes to lay on the style in the future.

The wife of James Morris, colored, died at 8 o'clock Friday evening of heart disease. The funeral will take place to-day from the Colored M. E. church.

Master Car Builder Irvin now has a force of 190 men as against 210 on the day the strike was inaugurated. On the 1st day of May one year ago he had a force of 240 men in his department.

It is said that several of the notorious prostitutes of the city becoming disgusted with the vigorous measures being instituted against them by the authorities, last evening skipped out for a more congenial locality.

The Y. M. C. A. have issued pretty cards of invitation to a number of church ladies to meet them Tuesday afternoon next, at the lecture hall in the Pythian block. Plans will be presented for extending the work for young men and the ladies will be asked to co-operate.

Jessie Browning was arrested by Constable Carnes last night on a warrant charging her with keeping a bawdy house. She was arraigned before Justice Marvin, entered a plea of guilty to the charge and was fined $30 and costs amounting to $39.40. She promptly liquidated and was released. Warrants were issued last night for five more of the frail creatures and they will probably be arraigned in court to-morrow.

Inman Injured.

Bob Inman, a brakeman on east-bound freight train No. 28, met with a painful accident at Big Blue bridge, three miles this side of Kansas City, at 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning. He was climbing down the ladder of the car, when he was struck by a lamp target and knocked to the ground. He was rendered unconscious, but for an instant only, and then arose and caught the caboose as it came by, while the train was running at the speed of fourteen miles an hour. Inman received injuries about the neck and hips, while his face was cut and bruised and his chin lacerated. He came through to this city and was patched up, but will lay off for a trip or so.

A Gipsy Wife Beater.

Shortly after dark yesterday evening, a boy reported to Marshal Jackson that a man in the gipsy encampment, located a short distance west of Antes' mill, had given one of the women of the party, supposed to be his wife, a terrible beating. The marshal, in company with officer Prentice, visited the camp, but found that the brutal gipsy had skipped out. He is probably in hiding in the vicinity, and the officers will keep a sharp look out for him.

Social Party.

It was expected by a number of the society people that a party would be given at the park Friday night in honor of Misses Dold, Dunlap and Brown, but owing to the warmth of the weather it was resolved to postpone it, and in consequence a small number of guests assembled at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Hall, where the ladies are stopping, and spent a most enjoyable evening. Refreshments were served and the Sedalia silver cornet band gave some fine selections. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frey, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Barrett, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Brown, Dr. and Mrs. E. N. Small, Misses Evans, Gallie, Chappeler, Faulhaber, and Messrs. Kehoe, Gentry, Curran, Whitehead, of Chicago, Lamy and Malby.

Jail Breakers.

Sheriff J. C. Bailey, of Carthage, Mo., arrived in the city on the train from the south yesterday morning, having in custody four prisoners booked for the penitentiary. Their names are James O'Neill, James Hamilton, James Fortune and Joseph Williams, and they were sentenced to two years' imprisonment each for jail breaking. They were taken east on Pacific train No. 6, at 9:45 a. m.

The party during their stay here were the guests of Col. and Mrs. Jno. S. Elliott. On Wednesday morning they were given a breakfast by Mr. and Mrs. John R. Walker.—Boonville Topic.

After a week's sojourn at the home of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Schmitt will return to this city to receive the congratulations of the numerous friends of the fortunate young groom.

A Card.

In our affliction the helping hands and kindred hearts of so many friends placed their tokens of sympathy on our hearts, and lifted the burdens from our shoulders that we were comforted even in the bitterness of our bereavement, and our darling was also lovingly cared for in her sickness. Dear kind friends, you have helped us, and the comfort you brought abides in our hearts. You came as a refreshing shower, and caused our sad hearts to feel glad, even when most sore and desolate. To our dear, old friend, Dr. Hargett, we are under the deepest possible obligations. He told us the truth in love, and went step by step with "our Flo" as far as the way, and was indeed the beloved physician. Kind friends, dear doctor and all, God bless you. W. AND M. E. SHARP.

Street Improvements.

Street Commissioner Jackson has been using his utmost endeavors, with the limited means at his command to improve the streets of the city, and has utilized to the best advantage the persons who were turned over to him to serve out fines. A noticeable improvement is on East Fifth street from Lamine street.

There is lots of room for improvement and it is to be hoped that Mr. Jackson will not relax his efforts.

A Lively Runaway.

A team attached to a spring wagon belonging to Mr. Sellers, who keeps a livery stable on Osage street, took fright on South Ohio street yesterday morning and ran some distance at a breakneck rate of speed. The driver was thrown out, but not seriously injured. The outfit finally collided with the fence at the residence of Mr. Pemberton and was thus brought to a sudden halt. The wagon was badly smashed up. The rig was, at the time, of the runaway, on its way to South Sedalia to convey a load of colored people to the picnic at Woodlodge's grove.

The City Marshal Arrested.

City Marshal Jackson was yesterday arrested on an information charging him with making an assault on George Washington Logan, the colored man whom he arrested Friday for a violation of the dog tax law, and whom it was found necessary to club in order to convey him to the cooler. The warrant was sworn out by Logan after he had been discharged from the police court with a nominal fine.

The facts in the case, so far as can be ascertained, are to the effect that Logan, who is an exceedingly ugly, ignorant and obstinate coon, was not clubbed half as severely as his conduct deserved. He had been warned by the marshal several days prior to his arrest that the tax on the dog must be paid, or that its owner would be subject to arrest and fine. Logan endeavored to evade the law by attaching a last year's check to his worthless canine. When placed under arrest by the marshal, the mulish coon refused to go quietly to the station and attempted to knock the officer down with a chair, whereupon the marshal used the butt end of his revolver for the purpose of knocking a little sense into his obstreperous prisoner. Logan is said to have stated after the difficulty that the marshal was fortunate in getting his work in first, as it was his (Logan's) intention to "do him up."

Marshal Jackson entered into recognition for his appearance before Justice Marvin to-morrow.

FLEEING FOR FREEDOM.

Two High-Spirited Girls Endeavor to Escape the Yoke of Domestic Tyranny.

A Runaway Couple From Kansas City Followed by an Uncle and Lover.

On the train from the west Wednesday night there arrived two young girls of rather attractive appearance and of modest demeanor, who immediately upon alighting from the train entered a hack and requested the driver to take them to 1412 East Fourth street. Their wishes were complied with, and although the driver says that the girls departed themselves in a very ladylike manner, he was convinced from general appearances that they were a runaway couple.

On the midnight train from the west, Thursday night, there arrived an old gentleman and young man, who at once made known to an officer at the depot that they were in search of a couple of runaway girls from Kansas City. The officer appealed to immediately located the girls from the description given, and the parties entering a hack were driven to 1412 East Third street. Arriving there, it was ascertained that the girls had stopped there the night previous, but on the morning following one of them had gone to work at Wilson's bakery, on East Fourth street, and the other at the boarding house of Mrs. Hart, on East Third street. The pursuers of the truants, after receiving this information, re-entered their carriage and were driven to the Hotel Kaiser, where they passed the night.

Yesterday morning, securing the services of the same hack driver, they proceeded to Wilson's bakery, where they found one of the truants, who stated that her companion had engaged service at Mrs. Hart's, the morning after their arrival, but had subsequently accepted a situation at the Calhoun house, on East Fifth street. Proceeding thither, the girl was found at work, but made no demur to accompanying the parties who had called for her. Returning to the bakery on Fourth street, the other runaway was taken in and the party was driven down town.

The names of the runaway girls are suppressed by the BAZOO, for fear that a mention of them might possibly cloud the reputation of the young ladies, who, so far as can be learned, conducted themselves with the utmost propriety during their brief stay in the city.

Investigation developed the information that the young man accompanying the uncle is the affianced of one of the runaway girls; that his attentions were not received at all kindly by the mother of his sweetheart, who had made a threat, which the latter overheard, that if she had anything more to do with that young man she would give her a severe whipping, and that to escape this indignity the young lady left home, persuading an intimate friend to accompany her.

After the young ladies had been safely corralled, the young lover, who is a smooth-faced kid, with "smart Aleck" written in every lineament of his fresh countenance, saw fit to assume the role of a detective to those who were conversant with some of the facts in the case. To a BAZOO reporter, who approached him respectfully for some information about the matter, he assumed an exceedingly important air and declared that he had kept the matter out of the newspapers thus far, and intended to do so.

"You will be a dandy if you keep it out of the BAZOO," remarked the reporter, who was at the time in possession of the names of the girls.

"I am a newspaper man myself," said the stunted specimen of would-be detectives and journalists from Kansas City, and if you give these girls a roasting I will certainly get back at you. I am one of the staff of King's Kansas City Illustrated Life.

"You don't say so," ejaculated the BAZOO commissioner. "I am very happy to meet you; and what might be your name, please?"

"I decline to be interviewed, and also to give my name."

"Oh, you do; excuse me, but it matters little; we will manage to find out."

"All right, go ahead and find out, but you will get no information from me."

Thanking the complacent "young gentleman" for his courtesy, the reporter left him, feeling that in all of his experience, during which he has met many natural born fools and consummate asses, this one took the cake.

It did not take long to ascertain that the astute young Pinkerton journalist in search of his runaway affianced bore the plain cognomen of Joe Robb, at least so he registered at the Hotel Kaiser, underneath the name of John Mulholland, the uncle of one of the runaways.

If this fly young man is really connected with the Kansas City Life the BAZOO congratulates that sheet upon securing the services of one of the freshest idiots and one of the most unadulterated asses that can generally be found among the many frauds who personate detectives and newspaper men. The Life should instruct Mr. Robb that occasionally he can meet with reporters of good common sense, outside of Kansas City, and that the next time he attempts to play a newspaper man for a chump, to steer clear of Sedalia.

The runaway couple accompanied by Detective Journalist Robb and Uncle Mulholland, returned to Kansas City yesterday afternoon.

Mr. H. J. Rodman, editorial correspondent and sketchist for Kings Illustrated Life, who has been in the city several days in the interest of his paper, was interviewed as to what he knew about Mr. Robb. He stated that he knew of no such man connected with that paper.

A FATED FAMILY.

A Runaway Team Causes Several Persons to be Injured Quite Badly.

They Arrive at the Depot in a Very Weary and Demoralized Condition.

At a late hour yesterday afternoon Mr. B. E. Shy, a farmer who resides some twenty odd miles north of Sedalia, brought to the depot here a family of five persons, who resembled the victims of a Kansas cyclone. The unfortunate people were J. H. Bowden, his wife, two daughters and one son, of Bates county. The children have been attending school at Columbia, Mo., and the parents were present at commencement exercises, having driven across the country in their own conveyance for the benefit of Mrs. Bowden's health.

Thursday the party left Columbia, en route home, all five being seated in the family carriage. Yesterday morning, about 9:30 o'clock, they had journeyed as far as Mayfield's hill, when Mr. Bowden alighted from the vehicle for the purpose of making it easier for the team. He went to the horses' heads and was walking along, when one of the animals reared up, striking Mr. B. on the head and felling him to the ground. The carriage then passed over his lower limbs, bruising them badly, but fortunately no fracture resulted. At this period the carriage was turned partially over, hurling the occupants into the road in a promiscuous heap. Mrs. Bowden sustained serious injuries about the head, face and back, and was in a critical condition on arrival here. One of the daughters escaped unharmed, but the other received an ugly cut on the chin and was otherwise hurt. The son also sustained slight injuries, but was able to look after the remainder of the party, being assisted by his uninjured sister.

Mr. Shy, a farmer residing near by, proved a friend indeed, and brought the unfortunate family to the city, where they boarded the south-bound M. & T train for home, being satisfied that it is much safer to travel in this manner than by private conveyance.

Woods' Mail.

Emmet Woods, a farmer residing four miles north of Tipton, arrived in the city yesterday on the lookout for a horse which was stolen from his place Wednesday night. The animal is a large black, and would readily sell for $100. Mr. Woods stated that he did not even know the direction in which the thief had gone, but thought it possible he might have come to Sedalia for the purpose of disposing of his fraudulently acquired property. Nothing was learned here and Mr. Woods returned home last evening.

Swapping Engines.

Horace Sibley, of Seneca Falls, New York, one of the proprietors of the fire engine manufactory bearing his name, arrived in the city yesterday. The new four-ton engine recently purchased from Mr. Sibley by the city has proved entirely too heavy for the work required of it, and the city desires to exchange it for a lighter one. Mr. Sibley is here for the purpose of submitting propositions and it is quite likely an agreement will be reached to-day whereby the exchange will be made.

A Sedalia Boy's Trouble.

Rod Gallie, a lad about 10 years of age, son of R. Gallie, a grocery merchant of Sedalia, arrived here on the Pacific train this morning. He was crying as if his heart would break when seen by a reporter at the depot this morning. He said he was to have been met by an uncle by the name of Thos. Hill, who lives near Sprague. The uncle failed to put in an appearance, hence the boy's trouble.—Thursday's, Rich Hill Herald.

Birthday Party.

Mr. and Mrs. John Myers gave a party at their hospitable home in honor of the eighth anniversary of their son Jimmie, last Friday afternoon. Refreshments were served and the occasion made most pleasurable. Jimmie received many appropriate presents, and will long remember the day. Among the many guests were:

May Rickman, May Clifford, Flora Lister, Edith Holcroft, Emma Myers, May Moshier, Nellie Tate, Mabel Ready, Nora Golden, Annie Russell, Hattie Arnold, Nellie Mason, Willie Glass, Eddie Keegan, Charles Henica, Charles Arnold, Frankie Moshier, George Lister, Harry Pohl, Arthur Lister, Denny Golden, Jim Woods and Geneva Rickman.
